

Matías Alonso is the Global Managing Director for the Accenture Utilities industry group. Prior to his current role, Mr. Alonso was leading Accenture's Resources operating group for Spain, Portugal, Africa, and Israel (the SPAI region). He has more than 20 years of experience in the utilities and energy industries, working for major utility companies across Europe. His key competencies are in mergers and acquisitions and post-merger integration, multinational operating models, and transformation programs. He has also led several workshops and has written articles on such topics as market reforms, smart grids, sustainability agenda, renewable technologies, and energy-efficiency programs, among others. Mr. Alonso is member of several energy organizations and is an active advisor to the University of Deusto in such areas as sustainability and the multi-polar world. He was recently appointed to be a member of the board of Deusto Business School