On 16 December, the Commission presented various proposals in the EU Automotive Package, including changes to the Regulation on CO2 Standards, a Regulation for corporate fleets, 'made in EU' provisions, and a new small car initiative. EU Policymakers from DG CLIMA, VP Sejourne's cabinet, and the Parliament will come together in this session to discuss what's exactly on the table in Brussels and what to expect in the next legislative process.

10:10–10:55 Session #3 | Democratising EVs: Tackling accessibility & affordability

The upfront cost of an EV is still often cited as one of the main barriers for the average consumer, when considering switching from a traditional car. This session will dive into the current market trends in the first-hand market and what policies can help stimulate a robust affordable second-hand EV market in Europe.

11:25–12:25 Session #4 – Flexibility & fleets

As cited in last year's EVision report, BEVs have the potential to provide vast amount of flexibility to the grid when utilizing smart charging and V2G services. When it comes to corporate fleets, this potential can grow even more due to their predictable charging patterns, an increased business case, and aggregated load. This session will explore which fleet segments have significant flexibility potential.

12:25–13:10 Session #5 | Heavy-duty vehicles: what's needed to drive the transition?

The penetration of BEVs in the heavy-duty market is significantly lower than the light-duty market. This session will dive into what makes the heavy-duty market unique and whether the barriers to electrification are mainly around demand stimulation, the supply of viable alternative vehicles or charging infrastructure and grid connection.

Panel Debate moderated by: Roger Atkins, Founder, Electric Vehicles Outlook Ltd
